GIREVEGUMENE AVIAN INVICORATING CORDIAL

TOR GENITAL DEBILITY, IMPOTENCY, INCONTINENCE, OR NOCTURNAL EMISSIONS, &c.—The astonishing success which has attended this invaluable medicine, for Loss of Muscular Energy, Physical Lassitude, and General Prostration, or any of the consequences of youthful indiscretion, or indulgence of the passion in riper years, renders it the most valuable preparation ever discovered.
In fact, as a remedy for the above complaints, it stands unrivalled and alone. There is no other reliable remedy, or any that has authentically received the sanction of the Medical Faculty. The WONDERFUL VEGETABLE PRODUCTION of which this medicine is composed has been tasted, and its virtues proclaimed, by the highest names of the faculty of London, Paris, and the chief cities of Europe, as well as by eminent Physicians in this country. It is the only infallible remedy for NERVOUS, HEAD, and MIND COMPLAINTS—the mental physic so long sought for and never before found—the only agent that can administer to MIND DISEASES. It will remove all nervous affections, DEPRESSION, EXCITEMENT, incapacity to study or business, loss of MEMORY, CONFUSION, thoughts of selfdestruction, fear of insanity, &c. It will restore the appetite, renew the health of those who have destroyed it by some that these disorders, emissions, &c., were incurable.
This, however, is not the fact.

DR. MORSE'S INVIGORATING CORDIAL has cured, and is coustantly curing, these complaints—releving the mental and bodily imapacity of the unfortunate sufferer, as the following testimony of the names received will conclusively show:

Dr. Woodward, of ——, Massachusetts Insane Hespital.

mental and bodily incapacity of the unfortunate sufferer, as the following testimony of the names received will conclusively show:

Dr. Woodward, of ——, Massachusetts Insane Hospital, writes of one of his patients being cured by using this Cordial thus: "It gives me pleasure to inform you that one of my patients, while in Boston, procured some of your Cordial. He tells me that he has not had a single emission since he commenced taking it, while before he had two or three a week. When he applied to me," mays Dr. W., "I thought it hardly possible for him ever to regain his full strength. I prescribed the usual medicine used in those cases in the hospital, but they had no effect. In the mean time be purchased some of your Cordial, which has effected a cure I am sure no other medicine would. I shall ever recommend it, whenever an opportunity occurs."

The nature of the maladis relieved by this Cordial are generally such as to leave the publication of certificates of cures out of the question. The proprietor could produce a host of the most conclusive testimony to show that the great reputation it enjoys was not accidentally obtained, but is firmly based upon its positive and apparently miraculous virtues. In all directions are to be found the happy parents of healthy offsprings, who would not have been so but for this extraordinary preparation. And it is equally potent for many diseases for which it is recommended.

THE MEDICAL JOURNALS
have not, in a single instance that has been authonticated, given their sanction to any other preparation for the above complaints. It has, in many violent and desperate cases, effected radical cures, after patients had been abandoned, and their sanction to any other preparation for the above complaints. CAUTION.—Ask for Dr. Morse's Cordial, and take no other, as there are worthless imitations which its unrivalled excellence, fame, and popularity have brought into the market. It will not hurt the most delicate female, but do good. Beware of all other Cordials, &c., and try only this. DR. JOHNSTON,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges of the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the Hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia, and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known. Many troubled with rieging in the ears and head when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, and bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

habit, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business or society. These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Museular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsis, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Delblity, Symptoms of Concumption, &c., &c.

Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced.

NERVOUS DEBILITY.

Weakness of the system, Nervous Debility and premature decay generally arise from the destructive habit of youth, that solitary practice so fatal to the healthful existence of man, and it is the young who are most apt to become its Victims, from an ignorance of the dangers to which they subject themselves. Parents and Guardians are often misled with respect to the cause or source of disease in their sons and wards. Alas! how often do they ascribe to other causes the wasting of the frame, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsis, Indigestion, derangement of the Nervous System, Cough, and Symptoms of Consumption; also those serious Mental effects, such as loss of Memory, Depression of Spirits, or peculiar fits of Melancholy, when the truth is, they have been caused by indulging in Pernicious but alluring practices, destructive to both Body and Mind. Thus are swept from existence thousands who might have been of use to their Country, a pleasure to their friends, and ornaments to Society.

DR. JOHNSTON'S INVIGORATING REMEDY FOR ORGANIC WEAKNESS.

This grand and important Remedy has restored strength and vigor to thousands of the most debilitated individuals, many who had lost all hopes, and been abandoned to die. By its complete invigoration of the Nervous System, the whole faculties become restored to their proper power and functions, and the fallen fabric of life is raised up to beauty, consistency and duration, upon the ruins of an emaciated and premature decline, to sound and pristine health. Oh, how happy have hundreds of misguided youths been made, who have been suddenly restored to health from the devastations of those terrific maladies which result from indiscretion! Such persons, before contemplating should reflect that a sound mind and bedy are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without this, the journey through life becomes a weary pligrimage; the prospect hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melantohy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our own. TAKE NOTICE.

It is with the greatest reluctance that Dr. Johnston permits his card to appear before the public, deeming it unprofessional for a physician to advertise; but unless he did so, the afflicted, especially strangers, could not fail to fall into the hands of those imprudent, boasting impostors—individual to the control of the professional for a man and character—edilars. the hands of those imprudent, locating impostors—individ-uals destitute of knowledge, name, and character—pediars, shoemakers, mechanics, &c., advertising themselves as phy-sicians; ignorant quacks, who keep you trifling month after month, as long as possible, and in despair leave you with ruined health to sigh over your galling disappointment. MR. J. EDREHI, a native of Morocco, has the honor to announce to the public that he has for sale an excellent article called AMULETS, which is a preventive of Cholera, Scarlet Fever, and other contagious diseases—was extensively worn in England during the rage of Cholera in 1832, and it was approved by the Medical Faculty in that country. This Amulet is a berry that grows upon a tree on Mount Lebanon, in a botanic garden near Jerusalem. It has been patronized in the four quarters of the world. This Amulet is an excellent article to prevent the spread of contagious diseases—from its smell is a preventive of Fevers and general decline of the system. It is worn as a necklex around the neck for ornament, and also as a bracelet around the wrist. From its strong odor it is an excellent and a certain article for the preventive of moths in clothing.

This article is patronized in England, France, and Italy, and likewise acquired universal patronage in America. No one should be without this excellent article.

Columbus Journal of Wednesday last, in noticing the arrival of delegates from various parts of Ohio to attend the State convention, says:

"We rejoice to state that from every county comes the strongest assurance that every Whig will do his duty, and that thousands who have hitherto voted with our opponents will give a hearty support to the gallant old hero, General its recital.

The Louisville Journal of the 10th says:

"A prominent and exceedingly well informed politician of Indiana called upon us yesterday to express his full conviction that Indiana will go for Scott. He gave such reasons for his opinion as seemed to us perfectly satisfactory. We know that many citizens of Indiana, who have hitherto been always Democratic, are now supporting Scott, and we do not believe there are any changes at all the other way, or that any Whig declines a full participation in the conflict."

The same paper expresses the opinion that Kentucky can give as large a majority for Gen. Scott as it gave for Gen. Harrison, and gives the following political items: "One of the best-known and most intelligent Whigs in Kentucky, living in one of the river counties, above here, informed us on Friday evening that in his county, and the adjoining counties, Gen. Scott will receive twenty Democratic votes where he will lose one Whig vote. "A most reliable gentleman living near the centre of the State, one who has served in Congress with very distinguished ability, says that within the last two or three weeks more than a score of old Democrats, men who never gave any but Democratic votes, and whom he had never expected to give any but Democratic votes, have volunteered declarations to him that they will rote for Scott. "Another distinguished gentleman, formerly a Representative in Congress, tells us that he recently visited two or three of the mountain counties and made political speeches there, and that, while not a Whig falters in that region, Democrats are constantly coming over to the Scott flag.

A Harsh and Unnecessary Attack.

The Southern Press says: "The Republic is so cruel as to taunt us with our small circulation among the resident popula-tion of Washington. We confess that we have not pleased, nor sought much to please, the taste or woo the favor either of the federal court or its society. We are more partial to the centrifugal principle of our system. It is not to be expected that a people whose fashions and interests are all on the side of centralism, of lavish expenditures, of magnificent public buildings, of hosts of offices, and of high salaries, would be partial to State Rights, to public economy, or to retrenchment. We resign our pretensions to metropolitan popularity in favor of the Republic."

We find, in one of the eastern papers, a secret circular from Kossuth to the German citizens. advising them to use their power over the ballotbox at the next election, so as to secure the in-tervention of the United States in favor of liberty in Europe. We hope that no more distinguished foreigners will be invited over here by government in public vessels .- Southern Press.

We shall be gratified to know that our freetrade friends do really prefer their own countrymen to foreigners, distinguished or undistinguished.

The Mass Meeting at Lundy's Lane. A more appropriate opening of the campaign for Gen. Scott could scarcely have been devised Lundy's Lane-the scene of the gallant hero's early glory, where he first poured out his blood opening of the campaign for the Presidency, because it has fairly started that flood-tide of enand force until it has borne the chosen of the people to the high position of official honor commensurate with the high place he already holds in the regards of his countrymen.

We observe that the Washington Union is alarmed at the grand demonstration just signalized at Lundy's Lane; and for want of other means to break the imposing effect of that great gathering, it undertakes to dispute the title of Gen. Scott to be regarded as the hero of the memorable battle fought on that spot. This mode of disparagement argues a degree of desperation which foretokens the anticipated loss of a declining cause. We do not care to go into any exposition of the fact which the Union denies since the records of history and the hearts of the people can bear sufficient testimony to the achievements of Gen. Scott on that occasion. It was the inauguration of his glory; and whatever share of the honors of that victory may be due tencing him to the gallows. He keeps strict to others-and there were honors enough acquired to confer fame upon every one who then and there so nobly sustained the American name—the part which Gen. Scott had in the conflict is too well known to admit of any controversy as to the pre-eminent distinction won by him on that bloody field. But the grand celebration at Lundy's Lane is but the beginning of a series of great gatherings of the people in immense masses; and if such are made the occasion of military reviews and encampments, to add to the zeal and to the perfect discipline of our volunteer soldiery, the interest of such scenes will be much enhanced. No doubt we shall hear a great deal from adverse journals in reprobation of the military feeling—a great deal in the way of denun-ciation against military chieftains, because of the enthusiasm which must be excited in favor of Gen. Scott by these reviews, encampments, and mass meetings, and because of the want of military prestige on the part of Gen. Pierce. Still the movements will go on-the masses will meet, and the hero who has exalted the glory of the American flag in the hard-fought battles of the Canadian frontier, during the last war with England, and more recently in the perilous fields of Mexico, will become more and more endeared to to the American people. No one can tell how soon the country may be called upon again to have recourse to the military prowess of her gallant soldiers for the vindication of her rights and her honor; and in the mean time she will know how to cherish the heroes who have already defended both. - Balt. More of the Wreck.

The New York Tribune of yesterday says From information obtained this morning, there is strong reason to believe that Mr. George Bell, of Alexandria, Virginia, his wife, his wife's sister, and two children, one a girl aged five years, and a boy three years old, were lost from the Henry Clay. Mr. Bell started from home, about ten days ago, to fetch Mrs. Bell, and his child, who body of her sister has not yet been recovered. had been on a visit to Mrs. Bell's father, residing near Rochester, and the family were expected at home by the middle of last week; but as yet they have not returned, nor has any tidings been ob tained respecting them; in consequence of which, under the present circumstances, their friends are in the greatest distress of mind.

The Confession of the Skupinskis-The Horrible Story of Matthias, the Elder Brother, Confirmed-Startling Disclo-

We learn that Wm. B. Mann, esq., acting district attorney, in the absence of Wm. B. Reed, esq., at present making a tour of Europe for the benefit of his health, has been put in possession of a confession from the brothers Skupinski, now make an appropriate the property of the property under sentence of death, which is so startling in

Our readers will remember a statement published about a month since, giving the details of a confession made by Mathias Skupinski to a countryman of his own, named Skawinski. That individual had formerly been acquainted with the elder Skupinski, and visited him at Moyamensing prison. Matthias made a confidant of him, and told him a fearful tale of crime and bloodshed in which he had been a conspicuous actor. According to this statement, the aggregate number of persons murdered by him and his friends were not less than eighty, while thirty houses were burnt by the same party. This confession was detailed to Mayor Gilpin by the recipient of the lisclosure. The story was published in the newspapers at the time, and caused cousiderable sen-sation. Colonel Korponay went to the prison and translated the whole statement to Matthias, who denied having made a confession. On the strength of this, Colonel Korponay came out in the papers with a card, contradicting the story, and charging Mr. Skawinski with having fabricated the whole statement, and sworn to a false-

It now appears that Blaise, the younger of the wretched brothers, was shown the confession of Matthias at the time it was first published, and acknowledged its truth. This endorsement he has not withdrawn since.

On Thursday last Matthias evinced some little signs of contrition, and in the morning, in the presence of the Rev. Wm. Alexander, the chap-ain of the prison, and Mr. Louis Toussig, the sworn interpreter, he made a full confession of his crimes. He said that he killed the boy Lehman by striking him on the head with the iron leg of a stove, and that he and Kaiser cut up the body. Blaise, he says, was not present at the He told of a series of crimes, which fully corroborates the statement made by Mr. Skawin-ski. To this terrible tale of blood, Matthias added the details of several fearful scenes, in which he and his companions were the actors. On the afternoon of the same day Matthias made another confession, which tallied with the first in all its shocking details. The second disclosure was made in the presence of sheriff Deal, deputy sheriff Miller, Rev. Mr. Alexander, Mr. Anthony Freed, keeper of the prison, Mr. Henry C. Snyder, and Mr. Toussig, the interpreter Matthias says that Blaise acted in concert with him and Kaiser in most of these outrages. From the story told by this monster, it is believed by some that he and his associates were the perpetrators of the Cosden and Bartle murders, and many others which have been involved in mystery. The feeling of contrition evinced by the eldest of the brothers, on Thursday, appeared but temporary. During the recital of his misdeeds, he displayed a great deal of fierceness, and said that he was no worse than other folks. He murdered people, but the Americans murdered him; so they were all alike, he contended. The number of murders and their horrible details, of which Matthias confessed himself guilty, were so terrible as to fairly bewilder those who were listening to him. During Thursday the miserable brothers had an interview, for the first time since they were sentenced. Blaise was taken to the cell occupied by Matthias. They embraced each other when they met, but neither of them exhibited the emotion which might be expected under the circumstances. They conversed freely in the Polish language. than that which took place a few days ago at The burden of their conversation was of a recriminating character. Those who were present gleaned from what passed that they were comin his country's cause. We speak of it as the pelled to leave England about two years since, in consequence of crimes they had committed there Blaise said he wanted to go to Russia, but that in thusiasm which is to go on increasing in volume this he was overruled by Matthias, who insisted on coming to the United States. The younger brother said he thought this the worst place they could go to. They will have another interview on Thursday next, the day before that fixed for the execution of Matthias Blaise is not kept chained. The fetters were taken off Matthias's ankle some time since, but were replaced at the time of the disclosures made by Mr. Shawinski.

The health of Matthias has suffered much during his confinement. He has no appetite, and is growing quite thin and cadaverous. Blaise, on the contrary, appears to enjoy his food, and is quite fleshy.

The prisoners are visited by two Catholic priests. Neither of the culprits seems disposed to seek consolation in religion. The eldest, on every occasion, rails at the Americans for sen-count of the days as they pass, and watches with fearful anxiety for the coming of the time fixed for the expiation of his great crimes. No person, excepting the two priests and the authorities, are suffered to visit the cell of the condemned.

We understand that it is the design of Sheriff Deal to execute the sentence of the law upon Matthias with his own hands. The execution takes place on Friday next. Kaiser, the much talked of and missing third nan, is at this time described by Matthias and his brother as being a short stout man, large nose, blue eyes, and florid complexion. His proper name, if Mathias is to be believed, is John Rutkowska. He is both a butcher and tailor by trade. He is still at large. His not being discovered is greatly to be regretted; it is to be hoped that he may yet be secured. TALL CHIMNEYS .- We perceive by our exchanges that a line of steamboats is now in course of construction to run on the Thames, which are to be built without any chimneys. The smoke and the products of combustion are to be discharged into the wheel houses, so that the draft will be increased by the action of the paddles, and the unconsumed particles of the fuel mingled with the water. The object of this improvement is to give greater facility in passing the very low bridges over the Thames, which are necessarily built on a level with the streets of London. - Wheeling Times.

Mrs. Hill, the principal of the Philadelphia School of Design for Women, together with her sister, Miss Eliza Smith, have been ascertained to have perished on board the hapless steamer Henry Clay. Mrs. Hill and her sister had been visiting friends in Poughkeepsie, and were on their return home, in charge of J. J. Speed, esq., of Baltimore, who was also lost. Mrs. Hill was held in the highest esteem in Philadelphia for her many and varied accomplishments. The Letters from Paris say that the new five-france pieces, bearing the effigy of the President, have almost all been cut across the throat as soon as issued. One can scarcely be found that does not bear this attestation of the good wishes of the public of Paris for their " saviour!"
